When performance, style and comfort get together, expect the Ultimate result

There is a place in Moruya, on the handsome South Coast of NSW, where things get done a different way. Drawing on a rich history of marine design technique, the experts at Ultimate Campers keep themselves busy inventing new ways to improve your off-road experience. Armed with advanced engineering technologies and an uncommon understanding of the latest composite materials and aerodynamic principles, Ultimate's successful transition to manufacturers of premium camper trailers has become as legendary as the off-road performance of the vehicles they build.

Like something out of a dream, the Xtrk is an unconventional vision of something familiar. A pop-top camper trailer stylishly designed to provide superior comfort inside and reliable operation throughout, the Xtrk is another reminder from Ultimate that the enjoyment of adventure is absolutely attainable.

Don't let the Xtrk's sleek appearance deceive you, this camper trailer is built to travel and born to journey off-road. All-terrain tyres and 15in steel rims provide plenty of strength and traction for manoeuvring over rough patches while the independent trailing arm suspension lends superior road handling to the Y-frame DuraGal chassis forged from high-tensile steel. Lovell long travel coil springs, Koni adjustable shock absorbers and dependable electric brakes round out a package destined to discover legendary locations.

The Xtrk's galley is both spacious and fully equipped. The two-burner stove is just right for fixing hearty suppers or brewing a relaxing beverage. The sink is all stainless steel, so even in areas swirling with dust and rife with condensation your basin is protected from the threats of rust and corrosion. Stylish white cupboards provide more than adequate storage for your culinary wares and matching benchtops are spacious enough for the comfortable preparation of food.

The lounge's distinct L-shape is lined with comfortably upholstered cushions that create an inviting area to settle in against and relax. Despite the compact and economic design of the camper, luxury isn't sacrificed inside the Xtrk. A king-sized sleeping area with high-density foam mattresses is roomy enough for a comfortable sleep while zippered windows allow you control over how much or how little breeze filters through the cabin.
